

Free Your Voices
July 30, 2010
9am to 4 pm
BCIL, 60 Temple Place 5th Floor, Boston, MA 02111
Please RSVP to Stacy Hart as space is limited

Below is an overview of our "Free Your Voices" Workshop that is inviting young and old alike to a day of using our history to impact the future. This is achieved by using 21st century technology to "Free Our Voice", one region at a time. We have refined the process so anyone can easily teach the skills to thrive in the brave new world of social networking while making the Movement relevant and viral to the next generation of disability rights leaders and those who serve them. These trainings teach young people with disabilities how to lead and engage college students to make the voices of disability accessible to all via the Internet.

Regional One Day Training for Young Leaders of the Disability Community

9:00 to 10:00	Introduction to It's Our Story
10:00 to 10:30	Attendee Introduction and Feedback
10:30 to 10:45	Break
10:45 to 11:30	Introduction to Online Tutorials and Worksite to make Content Accessible, Engaging College Students to Support The Mission.
11:30 to Noon	Tour of the Free Resources on the Web, Attendee Feedback
Noon to 1:00	Lunch
1:00 to 1:30	Mission Accessible: Transcription, Encoding, and Meta Tagging to Build Robust Search Capabilities
1:30 to 2:00	Storing Content in the "Cloud" and Developing Free Databases
2:00 to 2:30	Making Your Digital Story "Stick" using Social Networks, Attendee Feedback
2:30 to 2:45	Break
2:45 to 3:30	Recruiting the Resources, Creating Careers
3:30 to 4:00	Q & A